

ABSTRACT

In one embodiment, a galvanometer may include a moving magnet rotor. The moving magnet rotor may include an opening in each end. An output shaft and a tail shaft may be received in respective opening in the moving magnet rotor. The output shaft and tail shaft may 5 formed from a material having a high stiffness to strength ratio, such as a ceramic material.